PRINCIPAL

WE are celebrating this year one hundred years of progress and growth of our community. During that time, education has been the foundation upon which Elkland has been built. It is difficult to imagine what Elkland would be without her schools, churches, and industries.

I am sure that each one of you is planning to make your community and your nation a better place in which to live. Planning alone will not bring about the desired results, but planning backed by determination, ambition, and work will make many of your dreams come true.

I hope you reach the goal you set for yourself in life. You have now taken the first step in the right direction by completing your high school education. It is necessary now to plan further preparation in college, in industry, on the farm, or at home. I am sure you will be honest, sincere, gracious, friendly, and dependable in the future as you have been in the past.

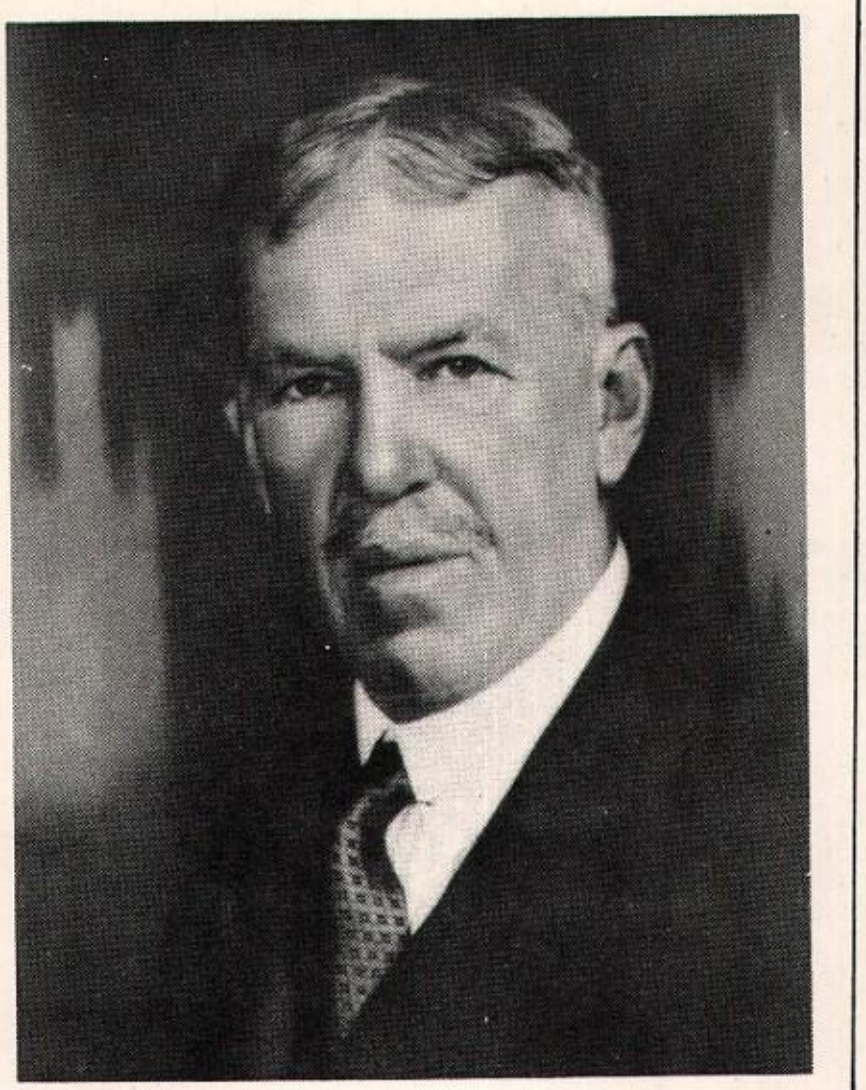
Clark H. Wood

FOREWORD

As we, the class of 1950, prepared this keepsake, we attempted to capture within its covers the spirit of our unforgettable school years.

We hoped that this book would also serve as a reminder that our school, along with our town, has grown rapidly since the first town fathers settled Elkland in 1850.

DEDICATION



In this year of the Centennial of Elkland, we are dedicating our book to Mr. Eben H. Ellison, Sr., who has done so much to make the rapid progress of our town possible. We deeply appreciate his tireless efforts and his keen interest in the welfare of our expanding school and community.

OUR PROMISE

We are the class of nineteen-fifty,
Happy, cheerful, wise, and thrifty.
Our years in school have been such fun,
We're proud of the work that we have done.
We leave here memories, good and bad,
To the friends and teachers we have had
And hope they'll wish us the very best,
As we scatter from here to east and west,
To strive for success that we all seek
For we are neither lazy nor weak.
We'll do our best to gild your name,
O Elkland High, we'll bring you fame.

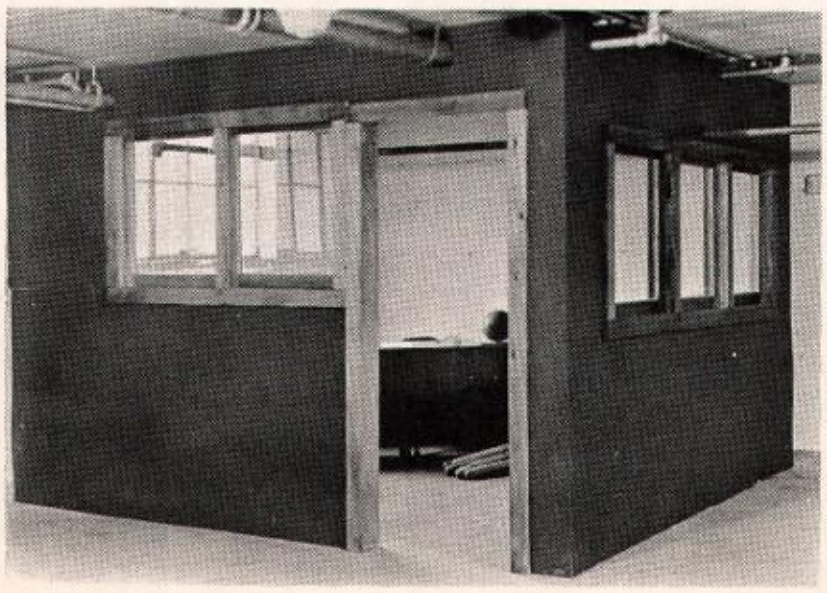
IND. ARTS AND AG.

INDUSTRIAL arts and agriculture are two orientation courses designed to find out which students are suited for woodworking, mechanical drawing, and farm work.

The field of industrial arts is being broadened next year by leather and copper working and a machine shop.

The agriculture students are learning to build rooms on houses, to handle livestock, and to operate farm machines. Below is a picture of Coach Milliron's office built in the boy's locker room by the agriculture students.



COMMERCIAL

THE enlargement of the commercial department is evidenced by an increase in the number of typewriters to eighteen. There are sixty students in typing classes, twenty-four in shorthand, and ten in bookkeeping.

Awards are given in recognition of high standards attained in class. Pins are given to those with shorthand dictation and transcription speeds of 80 to 100 words per minute. Requirements for completion of the courses are: typing I, 30 words per minute; typing II, 40; shorthand I, 60; and shorthand II, 80. These speeds must be sustained for at least five minutes.

Students also learn to operate the mimeograph, ditto, and adding machines.

THE above picture was taken in food preservation class to show the results of canning done by the girls in class. After being scored, the canned goods are taken home. The foods laboratory is a cheerful place to work, and the girls are the housekeepers. We have use of a freezing locker, and the girls learn modern methods of conserving food. We also have an electric mixer, pressure pan and canner, electric refrigerator, electric and gas ranges, and a "salad master," a new piece of equipment which the girls are learning to use.

We also have up-to-date sewing equipment, making it possible for each girl to become a skillful seamstress. For reference work and reading magazines the homemaking department offers a lovely living room, redecorated by homemaking students.

A NEW baseball team, coached for the first time by James Milliron, was defeated in all four of its attempts. These were all hard fought contests, but Milliron's men were not able to break into the win column.

OUR first soccer season was welcomed by a turnout of thirty boys. This was a new sport for Elkland, and the coach had to teach all the fundamentals of the game. Although hard fighting, our team lost its four games because of the handicap of inexperience.

AFTER dropping games to the much larger Troy and Corning teams, our talented Jayvees bounced back to defeat these same schools at home and lost only to Wellsboro in a close contest. This Jayvee team is composed of freshmen and sophomores who have the advantages of height, speed, and grit.

OUR chapter won top honors at the Mansfield Fair, receiving more prizes than any school in Tioga County. One of our members, Lorraine Brass, won the most prizes in the county, totaling nearly twenty dollars. The Pennsylvania State Farm Show in January also brought top honors to Lorraine Brass, who won a first prize ribbon on a cotton dress. Graduate, Elma Ascenzi was awarded second prize on a child's scrapbook; Alice Preston, third prize on a pair of pajamas; and the FHA Club, third prize on slip covers made for furniture in the homemaking department. Two members, Alice Preston and Patricia Weiskopff, were cited as rating "high" in a National Sewing Contest in which 250,000 girls participated.

With the help of club members, Patricia Weiskopff, vice president, has planned the following activities for the year 1949-1950:

September--Mansfield Fair
October---- Initiation of new members
December-- Participating in Pennsylvania State Farm Show. Baby sitting without pay to relieve busy parents. Field trip to Elmira to visit Spaulding Bakery, a department store, WELM broadcasting studio, Arnot Art Gallery.
February---Interest younger girls in FHA by presenting the "Emblem Service" and extending hospitality by serving refreshments. Send a package to adopted "German School."
March----- Send delegates to state convention
April------ Mother-daughter style show and tea
May------- Confer honorary degrees on worthy club members

UNDER the expert directorship of Waldo Seamans, the band, orchestra and chorus have grown steadily larger.

The band added its brilliant color and stirring music to the events of the season. Its appearance in Memorial parades in Elkland and surrounding towns brought forth words of praise from the spectators.

We remember with pleasure the lovely rendition of Christmas carols offered by the chorus at our Christmas assembly. Both the orchestra and chorus participated in the spring concert.

Our orchestra shared a fall concert with the Spebsqsa, a male chorus from Addison, New York. This concert was sponsored by the local Lions Club. The orchestra was an enjoyable addition to our assembly programs through the year. Now we are looking forward to its last performance of the year at our important event, the commencement program.

MEMORY LANE

THE year of 1886 marked the first commencement exercise of Elkland School, held in Parkhurst Hall. The graduating body consisted of three men, and it was the first time that diplomas were granted. Two banjos and two violins made up the orchestra which furnished the music for this memorable occasion.

Today, sixty-four years later, as we, the twenty-eight members of the graduating class, sit in our seats in the well-equipped auditorium, we think back to the time when we were freshmen.

In our ninth year, we were the "untouchables" and were left out of all the class activities. Our first abuse was our memorable initiation into high school. What a spectacle we were! To boost our morale after a day of indignities, the seniors gave us a big party, and we all ended up friends again.

As sophomores, we were finally accepted into senior society and took part in many activities during the year.

Our junior year was one of our most active in high school. We sold class pins and candy to raise money for our senior trip. The highlight of the year was the traditional Junior Prom. We had a Valentine theme for our decorations. The auditorium indeed looked like a picture from a storybook with red hearts and cupids. This affair was a great success and enlarged our nest egg considerably. We also received our class rings this year and went around comparing them with their majesties, the seniors. The music department put on the operetta "Marianne" with all members of the Glee Club taking part.

Now, at last, we are seniors. This year is our busiest and most exciting. We sold magazines, cards, stationery, candy and had a turkey and radio raffle. The proceeds of these business ventures were used for our Washington trip fund. Our senior play, "Growing Pains," was a walloping success and was enjoyed by all.

We are all looking forward to commencement when we will take one last glance at the familiar scenes so dear to each of us before we step out to meet the world.

FLASHES OF 1960

Plunkets Prunes presents Hedda Hopper Forto, your roving Hollywood reporter
in Highlights of 1960

THE biggest social event of the season was the marriage of socialite Shirley Stedge to oil magnate T. Oliver Rumsey, which took place in The Little Church Around the Corner.

Kay Allen and Ellsworth Smith are the toast of Broadway. Their new play, "South Atlantic," has broken all records.

The new comic strip, "Mickey Rat" and "Donald Quack," written by the Dimitry brothers, Daniel and James, is the most exciting thing that has happened since Margaret Truman hit high C.

Fame and fortune have finally come to Martha Merritt and Richard Cardman, mathematical wizards, who made the phenomenal discovery that 2+2 = 4.

Crooner Philip Whitney, commonly known as "The Velvet Frog," has recorded another best-seller entitled, "Out of the Pond To You," written by his press agent, Gerald Travis.

Calling all teachers, calling all teachers! Dr. Harry Russell and Nurse Dawn Hallinan are working night and day to perfect a new serum which will prevent teachers from going nuts.

W. T. Rupar is expanding his business concern so that he now employs three secretaries, Olive Brown, Florella Main and Lorraine Brass. This is a milestone in Rupar's illustrious career because yesterday his business folded up.

Jane Bianco and Roberta Van Gorden are a new dynamic team whose musical achievements have left the music world agog. While Jane plays the piano, the audience waits breathlessly for Roberta to turn the pages.

Martha Norton, "Snookie" to her friends, has replaced Fanny Brice as Baby Snooks, and since then her Hooper Rating has hooped.

Gertrude Beckwith, in private life, Mrs. Richard Merritt, says that pots and pans are fun to play with, but who wants to play?

Victor Dartt and Richard Cass have combined their literary talents and have come up with a best-seller entitled "Bookkeeping Can Be Painless."

Alfred Thurston nosed out Adolph Menjou and topped the list of the Ten Best Dressed Men in The World.

Richard Woodward's unusual photograph of a peanut upside down won first place in the annual photography contest.

Richard Runyan and Loren Carr are steadily rising in the business world. They are now in charge of wastebaskets and pencil sharpeners.

Ernest Smith and James Doan are part-owners of a nightclub "The Crack Pot" which only allows a certain class of people--that's right, you guessed it, crackpots.

This is the blowout. Bye, folks.

ALMA MATER

Hail to thee, dear Alma Mater
Long will we remember you.
The halls are filled with ringing laughter,
And, as we leave, we're blue.

To think that we must now go out,
Never to return;
In our hearts without a doubt,
Your memory will ever burn.

So, hail to thee, dear old high school
With your golden rule.
We will always, always love you
And to thee be true.

About the Seniors I have something to say
Concerning each one, both sad and gay.
We worked together from our freshman year;
Now the goal which we seek appears so near.

Some have chosen their future occupation
While others aspire to more education
Our dashing class colors, the blue and gold,
Remind us of stories that have been told.

As a flower for the class, we happily chose
A reminder of summer, a red, red rose.
Soon from the Elkland School we must go
Leaving those to learn what we already know.

CONTRIBUTIONS ARE APPRECIATED

We seniors are all so grateful
For the yearbook we have made;
But would our book have been so full
If our Advertisers had not paid?

Although we had a small amount,
Which was left to us as juniors;
We had to greatly enlarge this account,
To help the future seniors.

Each amount contributed helped our cause
Whether the ads be big or small,
And we wish to take this time to pause
To gladly thank you, one and all.

Gertrude Merritt

REFLECTION AFTER A GAME

It's not the fight in one person that counts,
It's not what you do by yourself,
It's the way you work in a team that counts,
It's "we" not just "myself."

Out in the world or in basketball,
This truth you've often been shown,
The way you work with a team counts more,
Than what you could accomplish alone.
